Yoga as Medicine Workshops focus on the various mindful tools that can tap into the body's own medicine cabinet to heal both the body and the mind through awareness. Stress is the #1cause of disease in the World, so if we can start to relax the mind and shift from the Sympathetic nervous system (Flight/Fight/Freeze) to the Parasympathetic Nervous System (Relaxation Response). Each workshop focused on mindful tools students can use to heal specific parts of their body through Pranayama, Breath Awareness, Deep Breathing, combined with Focused Attention on specific parts of the body during the Yoga practice. The Yoga practice will spend the first half of the workshop warming up the body through Vinyasa Yoga (moving with your breath) so that we can use the second half of the workshop to create space and healing in Yin, Therapeutic and Restorative Yoga poses, which are longer holds where both the muscle and the fascia are released and made more spacious. The Detox Flow will utilize three phases: (1) Decompression; (2) Compression; and (3) Twisting to release toxins in the body, joints and mind. A truly powerful practice to do as we start off a new year and soon shift into a new Season! March 17th
